RE: Case Number 96-460

Dear Sir or Madam,

Recently we were contacted by Sam McNamara, Attorney for Lexington MSA, relative to construction of a tower for cellular telecommunication service in Richmond, Kentucky. In response to their proposed facility, I would like to offer the following comments.

We recently began construction of twenty-four apartments for moderate income families on Brandy Lane in Richmond. The project was financed by Kentucky Housing Corporation through the Risk Share Program and has been guaranteed by HUD through the identical program. As owners of Brandy View Apartments we strongly oppose construction of a 295 foot radio tower within 500 feet of our project. Initially, several reasons come to mind, the first being marketability of our apartments. Second, and certainly no less significant, I do not feel we would have gotten prior approval of the site or the apartment project if the tower were already in place. In other words, as the lender and the guarantor of the loan for Brandy View Apartments, I strongly believe that Kentucky Housing Corporation and HUD would have firm objections to the proposed construction of this 295 foot tower.

Please accept this letter as documentation of our opposition to construction of the radio tower. If you have any questions or comments, please call me. I also request that you keep us updated regarding the maturation of this development. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Donna Creech-Moore
